Mexicans Rob and Slay Foreigners on Border, Claim

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Mexico City.—Newspaper dispatches from Nuevo Laredo say that 32 bodies, believed to be the remains of Italians and other persons of foreign birth, who have been robbed and murdered while attempting to enter the United States illegally, have been recovered from the Rio Grande river in the vicinity of Laredo, Tex., on the Mexican side of the river. An investigation is under way at Monterey, the dispatches assert, to determine the truth of charges that members of a family in that city have been murdering and robbing foreigners whom they have inveigled into attempting clandestine entrance into the United States.

Except for the remains of six Italians recently found, the correspondence says, the bodies have long been submerged in the river mud and identification is impossible.

FOREIGN POWERS MAY TAKE ACTION OVER PEKING HEAD

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington.—Voyage over the plight of the foreigners held by Chinese bandits has deepened here. The spectacle of all the civilized governments of the world sitting by imploring a weak central government to grant the demands of the bandits for ransom and even other concessions, and discuss details after the foreigners are released, is not one which experienced diplomats like to contemplate. Time was when foreign offices were ready to use their entire military and naval resources to liberate the captives.

When even the British government, notably more aggressive in protecting the lives of its nationals than any other of the powers, would issue a warning and follow up its demands with delay, procrastination today is being excused on the ground that the bandits after a social issue, the bandits by foreign troops would mean the instant death of the captives. ## Hold Ex-Soldiers As Booze Bandits

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago.—Three confessed members of a band of 20 distillery bandits, all former United States cavalrymen, who battled with guards last Tuesday night in an attempt to rob the Leas distillery at Deatsville, Ky., were captured at Waukegan, Ill., late Monday night. Two were suffering from severe buckshot wounds received in the engagement.

The men boasted to police that the band had plundered numerous other Kentucky distilleries, saying the thousands of gallons seized in the raids have furnished Chicago's chief rum supply since prohibition became effective.

They were arrested after one of the men had summoned Dr. Florence Stobo, a woman doctor, to a shack on the outskirts of Waukegan to attend to a man who he said was in a serious condition from gunshot wounds.

Dr. Stobo notified the police and the wounded man, who had taken to an automobile, were caught shortly afterward a few miles from the shack.

Mr. Alexandros told the foreign correspondents that "if the Turks propose to resume the war to obtain an indemnity, Greece accepts the challenge."

"My government," he continued, "has determined to retire from the conference next Wednesday or Thursday, when the indemnity question comes up in the plenary session. If Turkey insists on an unjust position or any effort to force Greece to accept this position."

He said he thought that "if war comes to worst, Greece's army will be able to defend its honor."

LA FOLLETTE MEN CALLED TO CONFER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Madison (2:00 P. M.).—In a final effort to bring the progressive republican forces in the legislature together behind a tax program that can muster enough strength to pass the senate, a conference of legislative leaders was called this afternoon to meet tonight in the executive office.

Robert M. La Follette, Jr., here today with instructions from Senator La Follette, the legislative leader, has been invited to attend the meeting.

It is learned, Senators W. A. Titus, and George Staudenmayer, have both been invited to attend the meeting.

Members who are understood to be unfavorably impressed by the governor's bill, are also included in the list of those asked to be present.

Putting on the Service. This meeting of progressives comes on the eve of consideration of Governor Blaine's measure, having been reached, the understanding among senators here is that an effort will be made to delay action on that measure.

The younger La Follette is reported by those who have conferred with him, to be prepared to urge the shaping of a definite tax program that can get the solid backing of the governor and the progressive members of the legislature. There has been no indication of the attitude that will be taken by the members now opposed to the governor's bill.

TAX ROW GROWS AS BLAINE GETS IN VETO

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Madison, Wis.—Senator H. J. Severson, author of the Severson income surtax bill, now pending in the legislature, served notice Tuesday on administration senators that he would attempt to force action on his measure should those senators again attempt filibustering tactics when Governor Blaine's income tax bill comes before the upper house tomorrow. His proposal is on the calendar along with that of the governor.

Senator Severson said that he was willing to give the governor's bill the right of way, but that he was unwilling to have the business of the senate delayed unnecessarily by dilatory tactics of those behind the Blaine bill. The senator formerly was the administration leader on all tax matters. He now is opposing the governor's measure on the ground that it is unworkable, he says. "The income 'little prospect' that the present legislature will cut state appropriations to any great extent, unless there is a veto in the bill, with such appropriation, money is to be raised, especially in the absence of general taxation revision."

No Money to Pay. Governor Blaine told the legislature that "I must not be overlooked that appropriations have been made for the last eight years that have not been met because there has been no money in the state treasury available for such purposes."

There is presently no money in the general fund," he said, "with which to meet the added burdens under this proposed bill; nor will suggested savings make funds available for this purpose."

People of this state ought now to be advised that I cannot approve of any appropriation to any substantial amount unless there is a veto in the bill, with such appropriation, money is to be raised, especially in the absence of general taxation revision."

Instead of adding additional burdens upon the state, this legislature should cut the appropriations right into a million dollars over two years ago," the governor said. "The general fund ought to be relieved to $25,000 for highway purposes. There seems to be a little prospect of either of these two objects being accomplished."

"I think the legislature and the

FUGITIVE KILLS TWO POLICEMEN, WOUNDS 2 MORE

Bryan Wins Battle for Bone Dry Church Pledge

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Indianapolis.—William Jennings Bryan, Tuesday won his fight for a demand that the Presbyterian minister, church official, member and the faculties and students of the denominational schools sign a denunciation pledge.

An effort to limit the pledge, signing to church members and students was rejected by the general assembly.

The resolution was finally adopted in the form proposed by Mr. Bryan, with the addition of a request that all state and student bodies of the faculties and churches be urged to take the pledge also.

The prohibition question furnished the fight of the morning session when the committee on temperance and moral warfare reported they had altered the Bryan resolution to exclude ministers, church officers and college presidents, professors and teachers from the actual signing, the resolution stating it was the "sense of this general assembly that they should abstain."

After some debate the assembly restored the original Bryan plan. Opponents among the ministers objected to being asked to take the pledge not to do something they do now, but Mr. Bryan saved the day by declaring that any minister who was not willing to sign the pledge as an example for the flock to follow, really needed to sign it.

Would Set Example. The Rev. George D. Miller of Warsaw, N. Y., obtained an amendment extending the resolution reference to Presbyterian schools, colleges, universities and theological seminaries to include all American institutions of those classes.

"Our greatest problem is not with our Presbyterian organizations, but with some of our great state universities," the Rev. Mr. Miller said.

Mr. Bryan and others objected to this change as an impractical addition of a clause urging other bodies to follow the Presbyterian example.

FEAR HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE IN ISOLATED TERRITORY.

Damage Believed Great From Wind, Rain and River Inundations.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Oklahoma City, Okla.—Western Oklahoma, visited late Monday and Tuesday night by a severe rain and wind storm, remained isolated Tuesday and efforts to verify reports that loss of lives had resulted were futile.

Not a wire was in operation between the storm area and the outside world, and rail communication was entirely disrupted.

Officials of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad said they had little hope of getting any trains through from the Pan Handle area of the state before midnight.

Rescued by Boats. Rivers throughout the western part of the state were reported at flood stage. The Northern Canadian was rising rapidly here this morning and police and Salvation Army workers were removing marooned families from their homes in the low lands.

About a mile of track of the St. Louis and Kansas City railway was washed out about 12 miles north of here.

REPORTS OF TORNADO DAMAGE ARE MEAGER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Wichita Falls, Tex.—A tornado late Monday, which hit at McLean, Okla., in the Pan Handle near the Oklahoma border, was reported to have swept subsequently northward, Oklahoma, and heavy rains over the section, reported Monday night, made information of the exact amount of damage done difficult to estimate Tuesday because of disrupted wire service.

DOUBT SINCERITY

Nearest Forces Backing Away From Outlaw Stronghold, Shanghai Reports.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Shanghai.—The "zero hour" for the Szechow bandits has passed, and the announcement has been received from the brigand stronghold of any execution of Government troops withdrawing as the bandits demanded. The rocky mountain prison, now are six miles distant.

Tientsin.—Latest advices from Tsoochang Tuesday confirmed the complete deadlock reported in negotiations between the Chinese government in an effort to procure the release of the foreigners held by bandits in a Shantung mountain stronghold.

Conditions under which foreign captives were held at the summit of Paotzu mountain were described as "horrible."

The only real peace offer put forth by the Tschow of Shantung province was said to have been rejected by the bandits with the ironic iteration "withdraw the troops to their original stations."

The Tschow offer to withdraw some distance from Paotzu simultaneously with the release of a third of the prisoners conditionally, on release of another third, he said, would comply with all the demands for withdrawal, the remaining third to be liberated when the bandits, as stipulated, were formed into brigades of the regular army.

The outlaws, however, refused to believe the Tschow sincere, and so notified the foreign consuls at Tsoochang.

Taken to Summit. Most of the captives have been removed to the summit of Paotzu, which is believed that the others will follow by the regular army, forbidden to ascend the mountain, (Continued on page 5)

FOREIGN POWERS MAY TAKE ACTION OVER PEKING HEAD

Chinese bandits, however, are not fighting foreign governments, but are anxious to exact money and concessions from the central government in China. When they have added to the embarrassments of the Peking authorities their desire is fulfilled.

Under the circumstances the taking of measures over the head of the Peking government and the beginning of direct negotiations with the bandits are being talked of here as the inevitable sequel to the present unsatisfactory situation in which the powers and themselves more or less in the same position in which they were in the famous Boxer rebellion in 1900 when the Chinese formed a society in opposition to foreign missionaries and murdered many of them. A relief expedition of 18,000 troops made up of American, British, French, German, Russian and Japanese forces was organized and went to the relief of approximately 200 foreign refugees held within the walls of the British legation at Peking.

There is a feeling here that the central government in Peking today is trying its utmost to obtain the release of the captives, whereas in 1900 the central government at first opposed but afterwards encouraged the Boxers. If there were any certainty that the Peking government could handle the situation today there would be no worry or talk of relief expeditions. But the fear which seems to be growing is that the Peking government is not going to be able to cope with the bandits because of the numerous factions inside the Peking government. It is impossible to see how an effective action as the foreign governments would like to see.

Diplomacy has about been exhausted at Peking and the next step is to deal directly with the bandits, failing in which the organization of a relief expedition is inevitable to punish the bandits if they harm their foreign captives or to force their release if they are still held. The number of foreign troops in China is limited and there may not be time enough to organize even present forces to force the release of the captives. But some step will have to be taken by the powers to restore the respect of the Chinese for the authority of foreign governments, should the captives be murdered and no punitive steps be taken by the foreign powers, the chances of a repetition of the present troubles will increase. On previous occasions only the strong arm of the European powers, with whom America as a rule has joined, has been effective in securing proper protection for the lives and property of Americans and Europeans.

There are so many ways to serve Kellogg's Bran—the one great aid to humanity!

You will enjoy eating Kellogg's Bran because its nut-like flavor appeals to the taste. And, think what each mouthful is doing to drive constipation out of your system and to re-establish health! That's because it is ALL BRAN. Kellogg's Bran is scientifically made to relieve suffering humanity—IT WILL DO THAT AS NO OTHER FOOD CAN!

Physicians recommend the regular use of Kellogg's Bran for mild or chronic cases and as a preventive. Bran, eaten each day and in proper quantity, sweeps, cleanses and purifies the alimentary tract.

Get away from pills and cathartics—Kellogg's Bran will give you permanent relief from constipation. Do not confuse Kellogg's Bran with common bran. Kellogg's is cooked, crumbled and ready to serve. It can be used in the most delightful baking products without in any way reducing its regulatory value. Try raising bread or muffins or griddle-cakes made with Kellogg's Bran. Recipes are printed on each package.

Kellogg's Bran is nationally eaten for health's sake as a cereal—in winter time with hot milk. Others prefer it sprinkled over hot or cold cereals. Another way is to mix it with hot cereal also be cooked with cereal. In each case add two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's Bran for each person; in chronic cases as much with each meal.

Kellogg's Bran is sold by all grocers and is supplied in individual packages at first-class hotels and clubs. Ask for it at your restaurant!

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE APOLLO.

All claims of being "different" attached to "The Isle of Lost Ships," which opened a four-day run at the Apollo theater, Monday, are more than justified, for it is one of the most unusual stories ever filmed. It has thrills enough to make an excellent mystery melodrama, pure, unadulterated romance in the strictest place on earth, panoramas of such beauty as to do credit to the "spectacle" pictures once in such vogue. In fact it approaches perfection, as judged by ordinary motion picture standards.

Whether or not the Sargasso sea, which without doubt is a real place that can be shown on any map of the Caribbean, is a place such as pictured in "The Isle of Lost Ships" is a matter of conjecture, but certainly the producer's idea of this sea is a romantic and imaginative one that gives an excellent foundation to the story of the three people who remained on the derelict modern steamer which slowly floated into the center of this sea. Then follows an exciting story of the shipwreck, the ex-convict, his capture, the New York detective, and the daughter of the American millionaire—agony, the tyrannical leader of the stranded band, and of the final escape in a submarine which rises in order to get to the top and cut away the weeds.

Scenes in the Sargasso sea show old fashioned next to modern liners and people of all nationalities gathered in this colony. Milton Sills, Anna Q. Nilsson, Frank Campeau and Walter Long have leading parts.

The memorial is now under construction.

The primary purpose that inspired its creation was the housing of the priceless collection of memorabilia of George Washington which had been assembled under the direction of George Washington's old lodge, Alexandria-Washington lodge No. 39 (No. 22 in Washington's day). While the idea grew beyond the housing of the collection still there will be incorporated in the building a reproduction of the original room in which George Washington occupied the chair as master.

Lot of Graves Sought.
Contractor for razing the old church building on the city's property on North Jackson street was awarded to William J. Gibson by a vote of 27-5, the highest of four, upon motion of Councilman Lloyd C. Gardner.

Consideration was given an American Legion proposal to compile a list of the graves of all veterans of the Civil War, and $125 was voted for the Memorial day observance, May 30. The city attorney was instructed to proceed with the investigation toward annexing Riverside park to the city, and it was the sense of the meeting that Glenn G. Snyder continue acting as city sealer until the controversy in regard to the city seal is settled.

Ordinances to abolish the police and fire commission and to require pasteurization of all milk distributed in the city were also passed up, Monday night; neither was the railroad commission's ruling on the North Franklin street viaduct, ordering the city to pay $15,000 of the cost of the viaduct, which was considered at the next meeting, June 4, when it is expected President J. K. Jensen will be back from Cleveland.

Two Appointments Made.
Mr. Gibson announced two appointments made by Mr. Jensen before his departure, Thomas McKee as street commissioner, as city weed commissioner, and H. H. Sartell, as acting city treasurer, were approved, and the council adjourned at the McKee and Bliss appointments.

Accept Parade Invitation.

The council, on motion of Councilman Mrs. Emma H. Manning, accepted the invitation of Harry L. Gifford post 23, United Spanish War Veterans, to take part in the parade on Memorial day, May 30. Action on the American Legion's request that the city engineering department prepare a map showing the route of the parade, and the city ways, was deferred until next meeting upon resolution of Mrs. Manning.

Gasoline filling station permits were issued to the Blackhawk grocery, 1226 Racine street; Hemming Motor company, 60 South Franklin street; and Peters Tire and Vulcanizing company, 29 North Franklin street.

Drop Cattle Matter.
In passing resolutions presented by Councilman William McCue, the council cancelled $78.20 worth of outstanding orders issued in 1920, and dropped the collection taxes on machinery of Frank P. Cayll, Watkeena, which was also assessed in his home city although located in Janesville on May 19, 1922.

Settlement of $25 with E. J. Riley for cleaning the garbage trailers was ordered. He had asked $33 and the city had offered $20.

After hanging fire for a year, Lewis C. Erdington's request for special permission to erect a two-car garage in the rear of his home, 203 South Third street, was granted. He plans to erect it on the property, finding the zoning ordinance prohibited this except by special permit from the council. This the city plan commission recommended.

Annexation Long Procedure.
Annexation of Riverside park to the city will require several months and will have to include intervening property owned by Charles Rathbun and the Mole estate. City Attorney George G. Cunningham told the council their permission probably will be necessary.

Until that time, the city has ordinary property rights of the park but cannot have it under city police supervision. It was suggested by Councilman C. Starr Atwood that a man might be secured to police the park for the privilege of the con-

The matter of getting a good road into the park is presenting a problem. Mr. Atwood said. The purchase of the property included a right-of-way from Washington street but this is not over the present road, the former route having been platted in 1832, under C. K. of the Janesville township board. The suggestion was made that the school board playgrounds committee assume charge of the park but nothing was settled on the entire matter was held open for future consideration.

The Lotus, American and Others.

The legislature has passed a bill and the governor has signed it, to preserve the lotus flower growing in a few Wisconsin lakes. There is no particular harm in preserving this water lily but it has been based on more or less ignorance of the plant itself. In support of the bill we were highly edified with stories of how the plants in the Wisconsin lakes, notably Fox Lake and the Mud pond near Albion, were brought here from the Nile and transplanted. One of the Wisconsin newspapers gets very poetic and dramatic over the Nile lotus and associates the lotus eaters of fiction with the yellow water lily. The lotophagi—those people of ancient Greek legend—lived however, not on the aquatic plant but on what has since been identified as the jujube tree supposed to have been possessed of magic powers. In the Odyssey, it is told of Ulysses that three of his companions returning from the siege of Troy stopped at the lotus-eaters' enchanted home and only because he forcibly carried them to his ships was he able to rescue them from the desire to remain forever in the realm of dozy dreams. Tennyson as becomes a poet writes that:

And deep asleep he seemed, yet all awake
And music in his ears his beating heart did make.

But the lotus of the Nile as we know that Egyptian water lily with its wide-spreading leaves and large white or rose-purple flowers, is known to botany as "Nymphaea Lotus" for the one of the white blossoms, and "Nymphaea Coerulea," for the purple flowered plants. All belong to the pea family or the order Leguminosae. These are long words but are necessary to perfectly identify plants. The sacred lotus of India and China is of the family "Nelumbo Indica," with umbrella leaves and tall stems and pink and yellow flowers.

In fact, there are about 80 species of the lotus identified in this order and scattered about in Southern Europe where it is the "Diospyros Lotus," and over Africa and Asia under differing names. In that way, too, there are many species of the white water lily which grows in ponds and lakes and along stagnant streams or in bays, here and there all over the United States. They vary in leaf shape, in size and waxiness of flower and in absolute color. The least common of all the American aquatic plants of this order is the one we call lotus and which is referred to in the protective measure passed by the legislature. It is a truly American plant, not transplanted from the Nile, but indigenous here. It does not resemble the Nile flower nor the plant, other than in a most general way and then only because it is of the same order just as the jaguar, belongs to the tiger family and the tiger to the family of the plain house cat. In some places it is not called the lotus but "water chinquapin" and "yellow water lily."

Here again we have the indefatigable botanist who has classified the plants. He places the white water lily in the species "Nymphaea Castanea Odorata" while the plant we know at Mud Lake as lotus is the "Nymphaea Advena." Grass Lake in Northern Illinois and Fox Lake, Wisconsin, have the largest beds in this section. Mud Lake is small but nearly filled with the flowers. At Monroe, Mich., at the mouth of the Raisin river, is another great bed and the guide who takes one through the maze of bays will tell a romantic story of how the original roots were brought over from Egypt by some millionaire or other. In fact they were there when Tecumseh Harrison was chasing Tecumseh. There is a bed in Southern California and another near New York City while in the Illinois river near Beardstown, the plants do not grow in mass but are spread along the river for several miles.

No one likes to destroy a dream or awake one from the beauty of poetic sentiment, but the American lotus is 100 per cent American and not an immigrant from the lazy Nile. But it seems that in order to inspire poetry we must cross the seas and look out over the wandering Nile where languor intrigues and enchantment reigns:

"In that dark land of mystic dreams
Where dark Osiris sprung,
It bloomed beside his sacred stream
While yet the world was young;
And every secret Nature told
Of golden wisdom's power,
In nestled still in every fold
Within the lotus flower."

In this contest for a perfect back why has the reverse side of a $20 bill been overlooked?

China as a Government.

There is no dealing with China as an established government. When the four power and other pacts were being discussed at Washington during the conference two years ago, it became a serious question as to what the Chinese government actually was. Was it that at Peking hanging on to a small territory by force of arms? Or was it the South where Sun Yat Sen was in leadership a part of the time and the rest of it was spent in dodging rude persons who were anxious to cut off his head? Or to go further was it vested in the divers and several mandarins who ruled in the provinces and took toll of all, both natives and foreign devils? It is worse now, when a dozen factions fight for domination over the once Celestial Empire. The impotence of any government in China has been disclosed in the last ten days since the bandits captured a train

CROP INSURANCE PROPOSED

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington—Reforms of far-reaching consequence to the American farmer are being studied by members of the Senate Committee on Agriculture during the recess of Congress. The results of these studies will be presented to congress when it convenes next December, with recommendations for legislation and drafts of proposed bills.

The most important subject being taken up is that of crop insurance. The greatest single cause of loss to the farmer is the weather. Upon the vagaries of the elements must depend the success or failure of his crops in large part. These elements are, of course, recognized to be beyond the power of human control, but the senate committee does believe that human prudence and foresight, coupled with the cooperation of the federal government, can do much to ameliorate the hardships which spring from unfavorable weather and bad harvests.

Insurance, man's sheet anchor to windward against all manner of misfortunes, the subject which is being given chief attention along this line.

There are many insurance companies now in business in the United States which sell a good deal of insurance to farmers to protect them against the chances of weather, but the new plan provides an expanded scheme which presumably will provide cheaper and more protection for the farmer. The new plan is a life insurance and ranch insurance. Insurance can be written against hail, drought, too much rain, wind, tornadoes and such natural phenomena. This type of insurance would be greatly extended and in addition the plan would provide government insurance against plant diseases and insect pests.

The weather diseases and pests annually take a toll of $2,000,000,000 from the American farmer. His crop each harvest is short that much as the result of the depredations of these enemies. The American agricultural crop of last year was valued at $14,000,000,000. It would have been valued $16,000,000,000 had not this baleful trinity swept away the excess value.

The same farmers are not always injured each year by the same agencies. The $2,000,000,000 loss is an average one for the whole country. It does not fall each year on the same farmers. The most reliable pest is the cotton boll weevil. Southern cotton planters know that each year they will lose a certain percentage of their cotton as a result of the weevils depredations but even this is not true.

Black rust falls on the northern wheat some years and some years spares it, although it has been increasing recently. Fruit diseases appear now in one place and now in others, and the fights of locusts are not dependable. Late frosts do much damage and there has not in the past been any way of determining in advance when or where they would occur, although the science of long distance weather forecasting now is reaching such perfection that in a few years advance information on these events will be possible.

The fact that these enemies of the farmer are intermittent and varied makes insurance against them practicable and desirable. If it were known that each year frosts were going to come late and kill fruits, that storms were going to sweep certain regions or that certain insect pests were to devour certain crops, insurance would not be practical. It is the element of chance in the situation which opens the way of insurance. In the good years, when the enemies avoid the crops in a given section, the farmer wins; in years of hard luck and crop failure, his insurance will cover his loss.

The government scheme of crop insurance is intended to have a spring attached to it which is of the utmost importance. The farmer is a great individualist. He has never been a strong adherent of organization. He has been inclined to plant the crops his father planted and cultivate them in the same way. He has been slow to listen to the advice of government scientists and college experts. For this reason such forms as crop diversification and rotation have been rather slow coming into the hands of the farmer. The string tied to the government insurance plan will have the effect of bringing the farmer into line for some of these reforms.

It is recognized that if farmers in a given section were to suspend the planting of cotton absolutely for two or three years, the cotton boll weevil would be eradicated from that section. It would be barred out. It has never been possible to get a whole community of farmers to agree to suspend cotton planting. Some of them might but others would decline. This nullifies the whole plan. If one planter produced cotton, the weevil would have something to live on and the next year they would still be present.

Under the government insurance plan it is believed it will be possible to exercise strong influence for better community action. For instance, the government could say to the farmers of a given county or section of a state: this cheap insurance is available for you if you will plant corn or wheat or something else and refrain from raising cotton for three years. No one in the whole community may have this insurance unless all agree to the terms.

Undoubtedly the leaders of the community would make every effort to get unanimous action because most of them certainly would want the cheap government insurance. In this way, the government could accomplish what no individual or organization could do.

The general plan under this scheme is to have the government dictate what the farmers who benefit by the insurance shall raise. Many sections of the country are not so prosperous as they might be because the farmer persists in raising outworn crops. To turn the land to other crops would improve both the land and the yield.

Also, this work would be carried on in coordination with a constant survey of needs of the world. From information sent in to Washington, it would be known just what the world most needed in the way of agricultural production. If the world should be short of corn, cotton, wheat, flax, livestock or most any product the government would encourage, through the insurance scheme, the increased production of the needed commodity.

In the same way, it would discourage continued production of commodities of which the world had an oversupply. Thus a balance of supply and demand would be maintained and prices would be held more stable. This would work to the advantage of both producer and consumer.

The plan would be started with government capital and it is believed would become self-sustaining—perhaps a source of revenue to the government. However, the government would not seek to do more than pay the expenses of administration. If it were discovered that the insurance premiums were rising up above what was needed to meet claims, the rate would be reduced.

Such a plan would prevent much trouble in the farm world. Sometimes, whole states are thrown into distress for a year or two because of crop failures due to drought, insect pests or plant disease. This could not happen under this plan.

and took many foreign passengers as prisoners, demanding a million dollars ransom money.

The difficulty in China is that since the empire was abolished and modern civilization has been accepted in a small homeopathic dose, there has not been enough of this medicine to effect a cure. The old order clings tenaciously and is a constant irritant. China will have to fight out her battles some day and settle the large question as to what kind of a government will be finally established. Unless that comes we may have foreign occupation—welcomed especially by the covetous Japs who stand ready to restore order—and take most of China in payment.

It is hard to understand why William Jennings Bryan wanted to be Moderator. He has never been moderate in anything.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

A PRAYER.
Lord, let me do my duty
With courage and a willing heart,
Open my eyes that I may see,
However dark the day may be,
However rough the road I fare,
The purpose of the cross I bear.

Lord, let me wake when morning breaks
Undaunted by my old mistakes.
Let me arise as comes the sun
Clad for the task that must be done,
Rejoicing I have strength to give
Some beauty to the life I live.

Lord, let me hear the kinderlier things,
The morning song the robin sings,
The laughter of the children near,
Their merry whisperings in my ear,
My neighbor's greeting at the gate,
Let these shut out the speech of hate.

Lord, let me see the beauty here,
The sky above me bright and clear,
The smile upon a friendly face,
The charm of health and all its grace,
The roses blooming everywhere,
In spite of hurt and grief and care.

Lord, strengthen me that I may keep
My faith, though bitterly I weep.
Grant me undaunted to remain
Through every storm of care and pain.
Through every storm of little things,
With courage and a willing heart.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON.

We said we wanted nothing out of the war, because we knew it would be a bad thing for what we would get. We are hard people to fool that way.

It may be better not to go world-courting in Europe, because we might have to marry the girl.

Who's Who Today

JOSEPH CLARK GREW.

In the highly important conference now going on at Lausanne, which is intended to determine the future of the American diplomat taking a star part is Joseph Clark Grew, United States minister to Switzerland.

The post of minister to Switzerland has been of singular significance after the Versailles treaty, as Geneva is the seat of the League of Nations. America is not a member of the league, but we observe its actions. To be present, though officially not present, to make one's official views obvious, although officially one has no voice, is to be seen to be the policy of the United States. It is the policy of the United States to be seen to be the policy of the United States.

His knowledge of eight languages adds to his diplomatic efficiency.

He was born in Boston, May 27, 1880. What was he in 1914, and for the last several years afterward, Grew sat at close hand in the capital of the German empire as a first secretary of the American embassy and a chief dependence of the American ambassador, James W. Gerard.

When diplomatic relations with Germany were severed, Grew was sent to Paris, then to Constantinople, remaining there a few months, then returning to the United States for service with the state department at Washington. He was the choice of Col. Edward P. House, President Wilson's confidential adviser and member of the peace commission, as his own chief aide and attache at the Paris peace conference.

After conclusion of the Versailles pact, Grew went to several European posts, and President Harding promoted him from the diplomatic civil service to be Minister at Bern.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Potential Mankillers.
Every drunken automobile driver is a potential mankiller. He is in the same class with those who commit manslaughter, for statistics show that a heavy proportion of fatal accidents on our highways are due to reckless driving induced by intoxication. The thought of a drunken engineer on a locomotive would be a pronounced shock. A drunken automobile driver is in exactly the same class. His responsibilities and his culpability differ only in degree.

Every person convicted of automobile driving while intoxicated ought to be severely dealt with. By severely we do not mean the imposition of a fine only. He should be sent to the workhouse, for that is where he belongs. There have been at least a half a dozen cases of intoxicated drivers in Appleton this year.

It is not enough to send these drivers, who threaten other people with death and injury every moment they are behind a wheel, and who are the cause of innumerable accidents, to the workhouse. They ought to have their licenses revoked and they should be forbidden to operate a car for a fixed period, say from six months to a year. A drunken man has no more business with an automobile in the streets than he has to go up and down the sidewalk shooting off a revolver promiscuously. Only when we come to handle him drastically and deal with him as he ought to be dealt with will we rule him off the road and protect the public in his rightful use of the streets and his right to security.—Appleton Post-Crescent.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

WITH YOUR DOCTOR

Tuberculosis of the lungs, known to the old timers as "consumption," and which has been the disease with the decline, is one of the few diseases which the patient can successfully treat with his doctor. But there are few victims of TB who really know enough to co-operate with the doctor in the treatment of the earlier stage of the illness. Unfortunately the majority of victims of this disease think they know enough to treat themselves with medicines, get plenty of fresh air, good food, and go to bed. Even when they know too much things which hurt so—tuberculosis has such a tendency to get well that recovery need not be despaired of if the patient heads.

J. L. Stocker, in his story, "How I Won the Battle with Tuberculosis," My Own Home," in the Journal of the Outdoor Life, June, 1921, (published by the National Tuberculosis association 370 Seventh avenue, New York City) is a case history of a pamphlet by the Tuberculosis Society of Detroit and Wayne county, 316 Jefferson avenue, east, Detroit, Mich., free to residents of Wayne county, five cents a copy to others. It tells of a man who helped him to understand the essentials of recovery, and remarks that he learned from the books what he failed to learn from the physician. But he adds, "I am not blaming the physicians, one could hardly expect a busy physician to explain in detail to all his patients a subject like tuberculosis."

There is only one kind of healer who "explains in detail" to all his victims and to all prospective eustomiers all about the "cause" of disease and the simple way of the which "removes the cause." He finds it pleasant; he learns his "healing" trade in a few short months at the longest.

The moderately busy physician cannot give the time to explain all about it to every patient and there are very few patients who would not be grudgingly paying the physician for such time. It is the fellow who yearns to do people good, as Edward E. Tent expressed it, that makes such a noise explaining things.

There are certain essentials for recovery from tuberculosis which, once the patient has grasped them, enable him to treat the disease with the doctor to co-operate in the cure. The first essential for recovery is the regular attendance and constant guidance of a good physician. The second essential is rest.

It takes most victims of TB a long long while to learn the second essential. Alas, some of them learn it too late. Some imagine that they would "get weak" if they were to remain absolutely at rest in bed for many weeks when they feel strong enough to be up and taking exercise. Mr. Stocker brings that out convincingly in his remarkable story. If you are not treating your tuberculosis with your doctor you will do well to read Mr. Stocker's story. It may show you the way.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Buildup and Iron.
Although vulgarly healthy, I am pale and rather insists that I eat a lot of raisins every day to put color in my face. I have been told that if I eat raisins I will get more iron in my blood. I have been told that I should eat raisins, almonds, apricots, melasses, wheat bran, dates, dried beans, currants, jelly, grape syrup, Boston brown bread, entire wheat, shredded wheat, peanots, walnuts, dandelions, are a few have had iron from raisins. If you do not personally like raisins, but there is no reason to group raisins with the other things. Color in the cheeks neither depends on nor indicates rich or normal blood. Color in the cheeks is put on table suffers from any shortage in iron ration. It would be rather difficult to select a diet that does not furnish all the iron the body needs. Take father out for five miles of oxygen every day—maybe that will brighten up your complexion.

Whooping Cough.
Is whooping cough contagious? Our little girl has it. Can the other children go to school? (Mrs. C. M.)

Answer—The disease is communicable, in the spray given off when the patient coughs. The well children in the household must be kept out of school unless they have had whooping cough or until two weeks have elapsed since they were last exposed to the disease. You should have the child who you should notify the health department and receive instructions.

Girl of Ghost Mountain

By J. ALLAN DUNN

Author of "A Man to His Mate," "Rimrock Trail," "The Man Trap."

Copyright by Small, Maynard and Company, and published by arrangement with McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE. Mary Burrows, with a giant Swede girl, Thora, lives on the plateau on top of Ghost Mountain in Arizona. Peter Sheridan, New York lawyer with tuberculosis, has bought a ranch at Chico Mesa and is recovering his health. His inseparable companion is Red Jackson, foreman of the ranch. They rescue a Chinaman, Quong, from the clutches of Hollister, a cattle rustler. Peter finds a way to the ranch on top of the mountain and follows an attempt of the bad man to kill him to annoy the women. Red falls in love with Thora. Hollister, swarthy, revengeful, kidnaps Mary and takes her to the Bonanza mine. On the way he drinks poison mesquite and goes blind, staggered and alone, he tries to turn it into a shrug and then bathes his overheated face before watering both horses.

As they advanced into the desert portion of the mesa, the girl's vitality lowered. The mere thought of the drink she had refused tortured her. The plagues suffraged snatched down, drying the tissues of her mouth, burning her exposed wrists. Her lips began to crack and her tongue to swell. Lack of food assailed her. Hope began to dwindle. She knew every swallow Hollister took of the liquor in his flask added fuel to the fire of his intentions. He seemed harder against the stuff and the possibility of his collapse under its influence became remote. She concentrated every failing faculty in petition to her God, for a way of escape to even, even if it had to lead through the gate to death. She lost all sense of pain, of outward things, in the merciful hypnosis of prayer, maintaining her balance on the plodding horse automatically. It was close to noon when his harsh chuckle and his words broke through the shell of her weariness. Her concentrated prayer had numbed her spirit and her body reacted. If God had listened, he had heard. "Look ahead, pretty," heered Hollister. "Pretty" was what that fat Swedish pig called you, an it suits you. There's where we're goin' to stay till mornin', you an' me." She gazed under the rim of her hat with sun-scorched eyes at a rain-bow dangle of cliffs that lifted suddenly from the desert. But she was indifferent to their beauty, too exhausted to take in the details of the wonderful place. Knowing that here she must rally her forces, she tried to clear her faded energies, finding a reserve of force that promised help, striving to clear her wits for the final issue.

The Painted Rocks, El Pueblo del Silencio, thrust up from the sands in two walls of miraculous form and color, a ravine between escarpments of dazzling white, of pinkish grey, orange, salmon; capped here and there by dark red lava, cliffs carved and indented by purple and mauve hollows where the shadows quivered in the fierce sunlight. They rose five hundred feet and more in great ledges piled with debris, where tons upon tons of burned clay had avalanched down, weathered and leavened by changing temperatures, lying like broken bricks in the terraces of an American Babylon. TODAY'S RECIPES
Country Salad—Chop lots of celery, small head of cabbage, one green pepper, season with pepper, salt and celery seed. Pound with potato masher for a few minutes, then pour on enough sweetened vinegar (diluted) to cover. Delicious with roast.
Cottage Cheese Salad—Place lettuce leaf on plate on which place a square of dry cottage cheese. Salt and pepper. Pour over this a good salad dressing and add a touch of paprika.
Cup Custard—Drop one egg into custard cup, beat in one teaspoon of sugar, pinch of salt and a few drops of vanilla, fill cup with hot milk and set in pan of water and bake till firm.
The Appetizing Radish—Radishes are without food value. They are made up of wood fiber, water and an acid flavor. It is this flavor, of course, for which we eat them. The flavor is just the thing when it is encased within a cool, crisp, pink little radish, to add zest to a spring meal. In France radishes and bread and butter are often served as the first course at a home luncheon, and a delicious way of serving them this is, indeed, with a cup of hot chocolate, one cold make a complete meal of bread and butter, crisp-crushed bread and sweet, fresh curls of butter, and radishes. A lot depends on the way the radishes are prepared for serving. They should, of course, be immaculately clean. The skins may be cut back in rose fashion or left uncut. Many persons eat the skins. The radishes, after they are prepared, should be chilled thoroughly, either in ice water or on the ice. The stems and leaves should never be allowed to stay long in water, for they quickly become unfit to eat. And the body of the radish should never be allowed to stay out of water long enough to dry. The point is to have them fresh and crisp, both as to body and stem. Radishes make a very good and an even better addition to a vegetable salad of tomatoes, peas, beans or other summer vegetables. The radishes, three or four of them, are used on each plate of salad for a garnish. When they form the mainstay of the salad they are sliced on lettuce leaves and served with French dressing or with mayonnaise.
Radishes may be sent to the table in a bed of shaved ice or else, fresh from the icebox, in a dish alone. The dish of chopped ice is better.

YOUR BABY and MINE

Register and Tribune Syndicate, Des Moines.

Mrs. Elfred is happy to advise all mothers about the care of their children of any age, or on any subject which does not belong in the field of the doctor.

The small booklet, "Care of the Baby," may be had by sending a self-addressed and stamped envelope and asking for it.

HOW TO PLAY

The child's play is as much a part of his development as later work in the school room. It is by his play that he learns to know his surroundings. The overfond and conscientious mother overdoes things by trying to direct the child's play constantly. She sits beside him commenting on everything he does; not infrequently she upsets his pride after he has finished in a crude manner some to him, marvelous building project—by remarking it herself in a more perfect form.

This is a mistake. She should praise instead every effort he makes to build anything, no matter how unsuccessful it may appear to her eyes. The child's pride in his finished product will lead him to repeat his efforts and he should progress thus naturally and not be deterred from further effort by seeing his mother's work by contrast.

Beads, crayons, blocks, boards, and modeling clay make the best sort of amusement material for the growing child. They lead him to use his own imagination—what they are incapable of themselves. The child should be allowed to make whatever he chooses. His choice, his natural interest in what he wants to do will make him strive toward some finished effect when he will turn away, satisfied, from the effort of doing what his mother may want him to do.

The mother's guidance may be better employed in an unobtrusive effort to keep things in order in the play. If the child is surrounded by various amusements he cannot concentrate on any one for his mind becomes confused. He should be gently guided so that he finishes and puts away one set of materials before he starts to play with another.

Community Comment

The Brodhead public library constitutes a notable example of the results that may be attained when the community pulls together.

The library has been a beacon of leadership that has real vision. More than 25,000 books were circulated by this library in 1922, and the circulation for the present year has been approximately the same.

Mrs. Hyde received for rural library service is $100 appropriated by each of two townships in that vicinity. Brodhead appropriates $1,200 for library purposes. So this splendid piece of community service is done at an expenditure of $1,400.

Mrs. Jessie Sprague, who has been the librarian for a number of years, divides her time between the public and the school libraries, and has in part-time assistant at the public library. Anyone who knows anything about libraries and their cost knows that an appropriation of $1,400 is small indeed when compared to the service received by the people of Brodhead and vicinity. Mrs. Sprague is one of those delightful individuals who is fairly bubbling over with love and enthusiasm for the job she is doing, and who thinks of expansion in terms of service rather than with an eye for the additional amount of work involved therein. Hence it is not surprising that rural school pupls and teachers for miles around are borrowing books from the Brodhead library and finding the librarian ready to help them in every possible way to find the books that suit their particular needs.

If the township authorities in that vicinity could see their way clear to make adequate appropriations, the rural service could be greatly increased and rural stations established. The community editor would like to see the time arrive when every foot of territory in southern Wisconsin will be linked up with the public library that is most accessible, and when every township will make appropriations toward the support of some library as a matter of course. If all of the public libraries in southern Wisconsin that are serving rural territory received appropriations in consideration of such service, more good books could be provided for the use of both city and rural borrowers.

Brodhead has no library building, but its citizens look forward to the time when a suitable structure can be erected that will provide not only quarters for the library, but other community center facilities as well.

Heart and Home Problems
BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON.
Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

HAPPY: The young lady did not send her address. The postmark on the envelope, however, was from Illinois. If she is the young lady you think she is, you will probably hear from her.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a married woman 27 years old and I have been married four and a half years. My husband is a man who is very attractive to women, although very few women are attracted to him. He is not good-looking and he is not attentive to women, but for some reason all my women friends have made a great fuss over him.

When I say that few women are attracted to him it sounds as though his love most decidedly belongs to me, but the few who do interest him make such an impression that many times I have felt I would have to leave because he was not true to me. Night after night I have stayed at home alone, waiting for him to return and he has not come. But soon after he has left me he has come back and has wanted me again.

My husband does not mean to be bad, but he is spoiled and self-indulgent. He is the dearest man in the world at the times he loves me and then I feel I could never give him up, but when he is faithless my heart aches so that I feel it would be better never to see him again than to suffer so.

Recently I had a strange experience. I had gone through a period of staying at home alone and so I decided to visit a married brother in another state. At first my husband seemed willing I should go, but as the time approached I could see he was going to miss me and wanted me to stay. I went anyway, because I thought it would be a good thing for both of us.

My brother has an unmarried friend who was at his home most of the time and who was very nice to me. We danced for a week and then my husband appeared. He was lonely and asked for a vacation for a week. Of course he went on just as we had been doing, dancing and having good times. My husband does not dance, but he went along and watched us. Before long he became so jealous of the bachelor that I did not know what to do. He showed his jealousy so plainly that we did not dare dance together.

Now we are home again and although my husband comes home after work, he puts and he is constantly saying something insinuating about my "bachelor lover." This makes me very angry because it is so unfair. I get so discouraged and don't know what to do to restore my husband to his former faith in me. What would you advise? KATHERINE K.

BRYAN CENTER OF CHURCH INTEREST

Commoner to Push Liquor and Anti-Darwin Resolutions.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Indianapolis—Reorganization of the boards of agencies of the Presbyterian church of the United States was completed on Monday with the elimination of twelve of the sixteen existing bodies.

Hereafter, the work of the church will be conducted in four main divisions:

Board of foreign missions.
Board of national missions.
Board of Christian education.
Board of ministerial relief.
Negro members of the church won a victory, in principle, when the assembly went on record to eliminate racial groups should be given representation on the four boards as soon as possible, and as far as it may be deemed expedient.

William Jennings Bryan is expected to be the center of interest at Tuesday's sessions.

Liquor and Darwin.
Mr. Bryan has ready for presentation from the floor a resolution asking that every minister, church officer, church member and the presidents, faculty members, and students of the fifty-seven Presbyterian schools, colleges and seminaries sign a pledge of total abstinence from the use of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes.

Mr. Bryan will also lead the devotional services. He will later ask the assembly to prohibit the teaching of the Darwinian theory of evolution in the Presbyterian schools and demand that every Presbyterian professor and teacher sign a statement renouncing belief in any hypothesis of the evolutionary descent of man and affirming their acceptance of the doctrine of the virgin birth of Christ.

THREE CHILDREN DROWNED IN BAY

Boys Meet Death When Boat Capsizes During School Outing.

Green Bay—Three boys, 12 years old, were drowned Monday afternoon when a skiff in which they were playing on the East river here was capsized during a picnic.

While hundreds of mothers, each fearful that her son had perished in the waves, wept softly or stared silently at the tolling men who dragged the stream, the body of the third victim was recovered Monday night.

It was that of Robert McGuire. The other two bodies were found soon after the sinking of the boat.

The picnic, given for the pupils of the Catholic parochial school, was a reward for a good showing in a song recital Sunday afternoon, at which the parents were honor guests. Monday was declared a holiday and the children were told to enjoy their freedom.

More venturesome than their companions, young McGuire, Raymond Rosowski and Edward Riebel pushed out on the river in a small buoying skiff. Suddenly a wave struck the flimsy craft and the boys were thrown into the swift current. They sank to death while children nearby ran for help.

Records Likely to Go at State Track Meet on Saturday

QUALITY ENTRIES FROM 50 SCHOOLS TO MARK NEW ERA

Quality rather than quantity will be seen at the 23rd annual Wisconsin interscholastic track and field meet at Camp Randall, Madison, next Saturday, according to the best indications available.

In round numbers, 50 schools have entered this year. This means that 600 boys will be seen taking part. These figures were forthcoming Tuesday from Chairman Fred J. Holt, Edgerton.

All over the state this year there has been a quickening of interest in track and field. More events are being held than in the past. The result has been that where schools in the past have sent a dozen or more boys to the state classic, this year those same schools are picking their stars and sending them.

This gives promise of the fastest meet in the history of the event. Higher grades instead of giving better competition and more than one mark is expected to be kicked over.

Entries in the tennis meet, which will be held on Friday, number 12. More are expected.

By FRANK SINCLAIR

WHEN "HIPPO" VAUGHN, the Beloit pitcher, climbed over the dugout at the Fox-Rocks arena at Edgerton Saturday, he was the grandstand and punched a Racine fan in the right eye, there developed a situation that deserves more than passing notice. It is a condition that has occurred before in other baseball lots and is in no way peculiar to Beloit. These words are written apropos of the situation and without direct bearing on the city where it took place.

VAUGHN is somewhat of a hot-headed young fellow. Throughout the game, the Racine fan constantly tore loose with slurring, tantalizing remarks. Vaughn was in a bad way as far as his pitching was concerned. He was not going well and was in a hole. The taunts, more sarcastic than might be called for, got under his skin. He was the first of another player, he picked out the man and then lost control of himself. It was not the right, nor a gentlemanly thing for him to do. There was no way justified. Having done it, he should have been ordered to the showers at once and the fan should have been ejected from the grounds. The fan departed voluntarily.

BUT, WHAT about the fan? Understand, this is not in defense of either. Both were wrong. Would a fair go up to a pitcher on the street and shout "You're a good one! You're a good one! You're a good one!" Where did you ever learn to pitch? Why should a 55 cent ticket permit a fan to pay any more to a baseball player than he would to a circus clown? The meeting of the same man in the course of civilian life? Why should the distance between the stands and the field give the privilege of hurling slanders of abuse at the athletes? It is not done in football. In basketball, the offending fan would be put out of the hall by the home team charged with a foul. Isn't it about time that the fans kept within the bounds of gentlemanly conduct? Many times, spectators give every sort of provocation for forgetting where they are. One way to help stop the evil is for the many sportsmen who attend games to clamp the muzzle on the loose tongue as soon as it begins to wag.

Jole Ray of I. A. C. defeated Ray Watson of the same school in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, while Kennedy of the same school has been going strong in the 440 and 880 yard runs. Hipke, New Holstein, who recently threw the discus 107 feet; Glaeser, Milwaukee West, who won the pole vault; Clyde Mead, Viroqua, in the distance runs; Shimek and Didiello, Kenosha, in the 440, 880 and mile runs; Lewis, Stoughton, in the mile and mile and a half; Jellison, Wells, Milton Union in the sprints; Doyle, Madison Central in the 880 and 440, are all expected to star.

Milwaukee Riverside and Madison Central are placing great hopes in their relay teams but some of the smaller schools hope to place in the final event.

Among the schools entered are: Class A — Janesville, Madison Central, Madison East, Marinette, Milwaukee Riverside, Oshkosh, West and Bay View, Monroe, Stoughton, Stevens Point, Wausau, Watertown, West Allis, Wisconsin Rapids, Racine, Manitowish, Viroqua.

Class B — Cambridge, Cuba City, Dodgeville, Edgerton, Fairchild, Humboldt, LaFarge, Lake Mills, Lancaster, Mauston, Middleton, Monticello, Milton Union, New Lisbon, Oconto Falls, Plainville, Prairie du Chien, Ripon, Spooner, Waupaca, Waubesa, Watkinson, New Holstein, Lake Geneva, Wisconsin High Madison, Mayville.

Hanson to Kytle. Passed balls—Perry, 2. Sacrifices—Heimicks, W. Latsch, Umpire—Johnson and Jensen. Stolen bases—Spilde, B. Latsch, Folker. Time—1:50.

NOTES OF THE LEAGUE

Franko of Fort again showed his pitching caliber by allowing only four hits and fanning 16, while he permitted but two bases on balls.

B. Latsch, Deerfield's catcher, had a perfect day at bat with three hits in three times up.

Other good hitting marks were made when Gess of Fort got four hits in four chances and Miller of the same team got three in four.

The Deerfield-Cambridge game went through with only one error.

Pitchers in the circuit did lots of fielding work Sunday. Christianson of Cambridge had six chances; Williams of Janesville had seven, one a putout. "Cler" Jerico of Stoughton and Franko of Fort, six—all without an error.

Fort's team had 12 men left on bases.

Gilbertson of Deerfield struck out 11, the record for Sunday.

There was only one outfield putout in the Deerfield game, that by Folker.

All Sunday's games were under two hours.

Kakusko, now Janesville center-fielder, was with Dubuque last year.

Sunday's games were peculiarly lacking in long hits. Two baggers.

MARQUETTE GRIDDER CALLED FOR "DOUBLE-O"

Milwaukee. — Although no spring football practice is being held at Marquette university this year, a call for a meeting of all candidates for the 1923 squad has been issued by head coach Frank J. Murray. The meeting will be held Sunday, and at it, William L. Coffey, graduate manager of athletics at Marquette, will meet with the would-be gridgers. Despite the fact that conditions made it impossible to hold spring workouts, Coach Murray and his assistants are desirous of becoming acquainted with the material which they have. Marquette faces a heavy schedule two interscholastic games being included on the program. The season will feature by a game with Boston College in Boston, Mass., on Oct. 27.

"I believe it would be practicable to take advantage of this situation," said "Bergie" on Monday. "This meet will bring many swimmers here and we should provide the best possible place for them to make the meet a success."

Mr. Bergman also recommends that some suitable and safe place for young swimmers be provided at the new park. Besides a dock, he urges erection of a diving tower and a paddling pool.

VOTE 36 BLOCKS OF MAINS BUILT

Extensive Sewer and Water Program for 1923 Approved by Councilmen.

Laying of approximately 20 blocks of water mains and 16 block of sanitary sewer mains was authorized by the city council at its regular meeting, Monday night, upon recommendation respectively of the board of water commissioners and the committee on public works.

The water board's recommendation was adopted with the exception of Walnut street, Pleasant to Highland, and Mineral Point, Pine to Walnut, where many of the property owners protested against a main being laid this year unless the city could distribute the cost over a period of five years. The Walnut street and Mineral Point avenue main proposals were held over for future consideration.

6, 8, 12 and 16-Inch Mains
Water mains ordered in, Monday night, in addition to those previously authorized for Augusta street and Cherry street, make a fairly large program, as follows:

15-Inch—On Eastern avenue, McKee to Jerome; Eastern avenue, from 140 feet east of Park avenue to lot 5 in section 1-2-12.

15-Inch—Sharon street, from end of present 6-inch main west of South Bluff street, to Bluff street.

15-Inch—Sharon street, Bluff to Logan; Forest Park boulevard, Logan to Oakland; Caroline street, St. Mary's to Bluff; Pleasant street, Palm to Oak Hill avenue and the present 6-inch main on Pleasant street, Pearl to Palm, to be replaced with 8-inch.

6-Inch—North Pine street, Pleasant to Ravine; Court street, end of present two-inch main east of Elm street to 225 feet west of Elm street, Corner street, Prospect to Fourth avenue; and Galena street, Chestnut to High.

No action was taken on mains requested on Palm street, Ravine to Mineral Point; Mole, Washington to Frederick; and on Erie avenue, from Washington 330 feet east, as the water board recommended laying these matters over for future consideration.

Many Pieces of Sewer

By sewerage districts, sewer mains were ordered laid at the expense of the property owners benefitting, as follows:

No. 3—North street, Academy to point 175 feet west.

No. 4—River street, Jackson to point 227 feet east, and from Jackson to Stone street; Stone street, Riverside to point 90 feet north.

No. 5—Pine street, West Bluff to Pleasant; Pleasant street, Pine to Oak Hill avenue and from end of present sewer on Palm to point 209 feet west; Ravine street, Palm to point 175 feet east; Palm street, from end of present sewer 50 feet north of the sewer on Mineral Point avenue to point 50 feet north of Elizabeth street.

No. 11—Glen street, Cornelia to point 175 feet east.

No. 12—Bennett street, Milton avenue to point 750 feet east.

No. 14—Fremont street, Ruger avenue to point 375 feet north.

No. 17—McKee boulevard, from end of present sewer 33 feet south of Eastern avenue outlet sewer to south line of lots 80 and 198 in Spring Brook addition.

On both the sewer and water main programs, the committee on public works will spread assessments and hold hearings before the contracts are let.

Assistant County Superintendent Through, July 1

Mrs. Sadie C. Fox, assistant county superintendent of schools, and a large factor in the development of rural education in Rock county in which she has been engaged for 19 years, has resigned, effective July 1, when the change in the county superintendency takes effect. On that date Mr. J. A. Anderson will assume the term as county superintendent, to be succeeded by Gilmore T. Longbotham, elected in April.

Mrs. Fox decided to resign after consideration of offers to remain. There are several notable things in connection with Mrs. Fox's work in Rock county. She was made deputy county superintendent by Mr. Anderson in May, 1912, became assistant July 1, 1914, and shortly afterward started what was the first supervising work of the rural schools being done at that time in Wisconsin. When the law creating supervising teachers was passed the following year, Mrs. Fox became the first supervisor for Rock county. Today there are two supervisors to cover the county over fine roads in automobiles. Mrs. Fox did her pioneer work in supervising in a horse and buggy, over rough roads and in all sorts of weather. She did the work in 1915-1916 and resigned in February, 1917, and returned to the office work in her home as assistant superintendent, and has continued until the present time in that capacity.

The assistant county superintendent of schools has been secretary of the Rock County Teachers' association for nine years. She was treasurer of the Junior Red Cross rural schools department in Rock county which did considerable work during the war, and is treasurer of the county publicity committee of the Wisconsin Teachers' association.

SOCIALIST FLAYS REDS
New York—The Russian soviet government again was denounced, from the floor of the socialist party convention Monday, Roberto Haberman, a delegate from Mexico City, delivering the attack.

"The communists were never any good in Russia, in Mexico, or in the United States," he declared.

"They are just as impudent and just as big liars one place as another."

WOMAN WON'T SUE
New York—Florence Leeds, former show girl, who figured with her sister, Joe Leeds, in the Stillman divorce case, in which it was established that James A. Stillman, millionaire banker was the boy's father, has asked the Associated Press to say she does not contemplate any court action to compel Stillman to provide for her son.

MRS. HOHENZOLLERN BACK
Dorn—Princess Hohenzollern, wife of former Emperor William, returned Saturday night with her children from her Silesian sojourn. Her time and Wilhelm walked through the city this Sunday and were photographed in the course of their outing.
